ABOUT US

Ibérica Farringdon manages to retain the vibe of a local neighbourhood restaurant that is filled with the lively chatter of regular diners every night of the week. The restaurant is set in a beautifully converted building dating back to 1874.

Just a stone's throw from Farringdon station, the central location makes the ideal spot to meet friends after work or for a long weekend meal when you don't want to travel too far.

The Interiors are a mix of original Spanish tiles and moody dark wood with prints of Goya and Velázquez dotted across the walls – a combination which evokes with atmosphere of Old Spain.

At the front you'll find the restaurant's iconic fifteen-metre-long bar which is perfect for drinks and nibbles, while the main restaurant is furnished with mix and match tables that make a relaxed spot to enjoy the kitchen's top-class tapas from.

The restaurant boasts a bar area for a casual catch-up, an intimate dining area that will take you from the hustle and bustle of the area to a more serene atmosphere. The restaurant can be hired in its entirety and has the facilities for external catering.

Under the guidance of Michelin-starred Chef Director Nacho Manzano, our menu boasts flavours from across the Spanish peninsula, with a special nod to Manzano's Asturian roots featuring a selection of classic and contemporary tapas, artisan delicatessen and Valencian style rices.
